Highlights

My mother and father lived here all their life for only not quite two years in Joliet Que. They had to come back here as the climate did not agree with my father. When he was able to work he was a clerk in Brazeaus and Dagenais stores. My fathers favourite pastime was playing cards. My Grandfather, Albert St. Cyr had the first livery barn there. He had horses for hire and for work drove hearses and weddings. I get quite a chuckle as he must have been quite a man in his day.
